About the conference

About Hokuriku Composites Conference:

Hokuriku Composites Conference is held every two years organized by the Hokuriku Advanced Composites Materials Association (HACM) and the Innovative Composite Center (ICC), inviting lecturers from overseas companies doing business at the cutting edge of the composites industry to share information on global composites trends. The third conference will be held onsite for the first time in four years after the pandemic. Along with the presentations, there will be a poster exhibition and a banquet to provide opportunities for networking among attendees. The Conference expects more than fifty Japanese participants.

Notes

Conference Organizer will provide the followings to the conference speakers:
